RYAN WILDER

After saving the poet-wizard Billiam and the innkeeper Vasha Hall and her husband, the party joined the caravan of refugees fleeing Elturel.

On the road, they brought up the rear with their cart and barrels of mead that they'd salvaged from Vasha's cellar. Dagney, the famous bard, sang upbeat songs while the downtrodden civilians could serve themselves a cup of ale.

The party unanimously hooted out "Party cart!"

ABOUT THE ARTIST

Zack Larez is a full-blooded American of Mexican and Native American descent. He works primarily as a live-action storyboard artist in film, commercials and television. Periodically, he is called upon to monitor script, dialogue and continuity on film sets as a script supervisor.

Zack is developing concepts for comicbooks he plans to self-publish and scripts for short form and feature length films that he plans to direct.

He DM's a weekly Dungeons & Dragons campaign, skateboards to his favorite local comicbook shop and draws all day.

He lives in Pasadena, California.
